Details

RUGBY Rugby is great, the players don’t wear helmets or padding; they just beat the living daylights out of each other and then go for a beer. Rugby is 80% mental. In rugby, blood clots, scars heal, pain goes away, but glory lasts forever. The more you sweat in training, the less you bleed in battle. Rugby is the only sport where you can be kicked, punched, bitten, trampled, and crushed, and you love every minute of it. Footballers spend 90 minutes pretending to be hurt, rugby players spend 80 minutes pretending not to be hurt. Rugby: No pads, no helmets, just balls. Rugby is all about teamwork and support. To go forwards you must go backwards. All the talent in the world won’t take you anywhere without your teammates. Rugby is like war – easy to start, difficult to stop, and impossible to forget. Always get your tackle in early, even if it’s late. If you can’t play nice, play rugby. Rugby is the only sport where the team bus is an ambulance.
