Details

We envisioned a compellingly desired collection of thoughtful thank you gifts that would appeal to individuals, we decided to focus on thankfulness rather than the recipient's gender or age; thanking someone is a universal notion, and our presents should magnify solely the sender's gratitude by ensuring our baskets are handpicked with high-quality things the recipient can enjoy. We've had more people in our lives to thank in recent years, including neighbours for their acts of assistance when it was most needed. The doctors, nurses, and caregivers who have treated us or a family member, as well as the teachers, coworkers, and associates who have led us and our children through this difficult time. The Lost for Words thank you basket, filled with high-quality food products, is the ideal way to show your appreciation and say thank you. This thank you gift is loaded with shareable goods, such as the Lily O'Briens Exquisite Collection of luxury chocolates and Thank You freshly baked chocolate cake, and was designed with the intention of being presented to a group of people who need to be thanked. These might be people who have helped, cared for, or guided you. However, our thank you gifts are versatile so this present could just as easily be given to a friend, family member, caregiver, or coworker who you wish to shower with gratitude
