Details

The Argento is a particularly delightful hamper because it distinguishes itself from the mainstream market by being a non alcoholic hamper which is designed to be a Fine Food Gift Celebration rather than serve the function of being a non alcoholic variant of a standardised product. It has traditionally been one of our favourite hampers to create because although it isn't a volume product due to its price. It is that very price which allows us to create a really beautiful niche variation. And the only gift basket company in the UK, which ranks for hampers, this is right up our street. The creation of magnificent niche versions of hampers which are better than the modified versions of the big retail hamper companies. The Argento Hamper has a few more peculiar flavours with some basil and garlic olives and banana flavoured crisps. However, this should not put you off, they will refine your taste buds and broaden your palate. As it is a Christmas Hamper we had to include some chocolate indulgence, which is why there are rich chocolate truffles. However, this Gift Hamper is not inherently unhealthy. We have opted for chocolate covered goods, which are healthier, and offer a wider range of flavours and tastes, rather than a Chocolate hamper. The great Taste Award Argento Hamper is defined by its high quality food, the products that have been selected are from only the best ranges and producers, ensuring the flavours are outstanding, and will blow the recipients mind. This selection of award winning foods will surely suffice for a gift for anyone, no matter how difficult they are to please, or hard to buy for. We have you covered, and if you are still looking for a gift for someone, stop, you have found it.
