Quick Overview

We've blended together a duo of popular Australian wines with our Sunday Times gold star reviewed Christmas Feast Hamper. We like our hampers to brim with hand picked deliciousness. Focusing on the savoury elements of Christmas.

Details

We marry one of the all time favourite Christmas hampers with a straightforward, no nonsense combination of wines which hit precisely the right price/value ratio to ensure that they are great table drinking wines for the festive period. Taking a more savoury approach, the Christmas Traditional Feast focuses on teas and biscuits for Christmas, still including chocolate (of course, as a Christmas essential) but in fewer quantities, although still the luxury, smooth boxes we want. With a focus on Christmas fayre, it was a must that we included a Christmas pudding, something every Christmas table should have, however it does have an acquired taste, so there is also a Christmas Cake, maybe for younger generations also. We also included luxury mince pies, which will always go down a treat after the big meal on Christmas day itself. Chocolates from Switzerland itself, and chocolates from some of the smallest islands of Ireland, this Christmas Traditional Hamper isn't missing anything. The cheese, the wine, the nibbles, the goods, are all included in this magnificent feast, and we couldn't recommend anything stronger for your Christmas feast at home. The Christmas Traditional Feast Duo Hamper doesn't have any overpowering or unusual flavours, making it versatile and suitable for many groups or families. Even with younger children there are still goodies suitable for them including toffee waffles, and maybe some fudge. There are also teas and biscuits for those who do not drink, and a splash of sparkling apple juice, something bold amongst the sophistication. As one of our legacy hampers, we can assure it is a best-seller every year, and the recipients won't be disappointed by this Christmas Traditional Feast.
