

'A Recipe For Parenthood' Poem Print

£14.00

OUT OF STOCK

Quick Overview

A witty and warm poem that explores the real ingredients of parenthood. The perfect gift to send on the arrival of a new baby, a christening present, or as an emotional thank you to your own Mum and Dad.

Details

A Recipe for Parenthood - wording reads as: A dollop of devotion A dash of dedication A smattering of sleepless nights And a drop of education. A tablespoon of challenge A teaspoon of affection A pinch or two of worry And a drizzle of protection. A grain or two of patience A soupcon of surprise A sprinkling of laughter And a splash of compromise. A spot of wit and cunning A slice of perspiration An ounce of hope and wonder And a cup of conversation. Mix up the ingredients As listed up above, Serve with lashings of support And unconditional love. The poem print is H30 x W21cm (A4) and H42 x W30cm (A4). Print arrive flat, packed with backing board and wrapped in cellophane NB* Arrives unframed. Hanger not included. Copyright of Joanna Miller, Bespoke Verse 2017.

Additional Information

Contents	No